PLUMER ROAD
VILLAGE FAIR

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 18

This sweet community event aims to highlight the community atmosphere of Rose Bay's charming Plumer Road village.

Apart from showcasing the talents of the local shopkeepers who offer everything from organic meat to world-class pastries, the fair brings together an extra 20 stalls, plus music, gin tastings, children's activities and more.

Food will include hamburgers and sausages from Kingsmore Meats; Mediterranean cuisine and sweets from Habibay; authentic Italian fare from Made in Italy; chicken schnitzels, burgers and Thai-inspired salads from Plumer Road Chicken Shop; extraordinary French pastries, tarts, pies and quiches from Robert at La Bretagne Patisserie; organic teas, coffees, sweets from Bernasconi's café; and lobster, fresh prawn rolls and sushi platters from Woollahra's Famous Fish Co. by Steve Costi. Jimmy Liks's spice trail flavours will also be on offer.

As well there will be stalls from Cicada & Co, Blem Beach Accessories, Bob Window, Villa Botanique, Venetia Elaine, Sarah J, Curtis Hats, Oh Mee Oh Mai!

childrenswear, Wrappsody, and Inja Paw natural dog food.

The fair, which has a laid-back community atmosphere, is this year presented by Cambridge Markets.

Cambridge's Madelienne Anderson says she's thrilled to be part of the community event.

"It's such a sweet location, with such amazing shops," she says. "It will be great fun putting on a lovely community event in such a wonderful neighbourhood."

Plumer Road will be blocked off between O'Sullivan Road and Balfour Road on the day.
